

ABSTRACT

The present invention is a computerized vehicle lease exchange system and method, whereby prospective leased vehicle transferors and prospective leased vehicle transferees can complete leased vehicle transfer transactions electronically and whereby the prospective leased vehicle transferor can apply for and obtain insurance to protect against liability arising from a default by the leased vehicle transferee under the transferred vehicle lease.